THE CITY CHARTER COMMISSION:

'Home Rule' Is the Objective

(This is the first in a series of articles on the question, "Shall a Commission be chosen to write a city charter?", which Salem voters will decide Nov. 8.)

From the earliest days of our state's history, Ohio villages and cities have been the "brain children" of the General Assembly. Municipalities possessed only the powers which the legislature saw fit to give them.

For example, through the years laws passed by the General Assembly regulating the minor task of legal advertising now require a 13-page booklet to help cities meet all provisions of the law.

As early as 1912, growing Ohio cities found themselves hopelessly enmeshed in a mass of state laws that often were antiquated, cumbersome and restrictive.

TO RELIEVE THE situation, Ohio voters in 1912 adopted a constitutional amendment providing Home Rule for cities and villages. This amendment was so well-written that today it is still cited by students of government as a model for other states to follow.

Briefly, this Home Rule amendment (Article XVIII) gives Ohio cities the right to choose their own methods of governing themselves, with maximum freedom from control by the state legislature and state administrative officials.

This means that a city can tailor-make its government to suit its particular needs. It can set up whatever form of government it wants; and distribute the various powers and responsibilities among whatever officials it wishes.

UNDER HOME RULE a city can adopt and enforce all powers of self-government unless they conflict with the Constitution or with the general laws of Ohio.

To enjoy the benefits of Home Rule, the amendment requires only that a city elect a commission to study and draft a charter outlining the structure, powers and procedures under which its government will operate.

The charter is then submitted to the voters for their approval.

Kennedy Aims At California

Wrapping Up Drive In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today winds up four back-breaking days of campaigning in touch-and-go Pennsylvania, then heads tonight for another critical state, California.

His final effort here was another day-long schedule of motorcade stops, this time all in the city of Philadelphia, where Democratic chieftains hope to pile up a big enough plurality to carry the state's 32 electoral votes for Kennedy. A nationally televised speech at a $100-a-plate dinner at Convention Hall is on tap tonight — NBC, 8:30 p. m. EST.

The Democratic candidate made these points Sunday:

1. On the CBS "Face the Nation" panel program, Kennedy said a possible counter-measure if the country slipped into a deep recession by January would be a temporary tax cut for four or five months. He said a tax cut would be the fastest way to give the economy a lift.

2. On the same TV show, the religious issue came up again, and Kennedy said he and his fellow American Roman Catholics are strongly against any state religion. "If 99 per cent of the population were Catholics I would still oppose it," he said.

3. In a separate statement, he pledged "if elected president I shall not devalue the dollar from the present rate." This was aimed at recent speculation in gold in the London market, based on a rumor—strongly denied by the Eisenhower administration—that the dollar might be devalued by increasing the U. S. price for gold.

4. Pledged that if elected he would seek a goal of 82 million jobs by 1968. He estimated that 84 million would be eligible for employment by then and his figure would represent full employment.

In his earnest restatement of his position on separation of church and state, Kennedy burst out, "Nothing can be done about my religion. I am what I am and I'm going to be what I am."

Shah Gets Heir After 3 Marriages

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Queen Farah Diba gave birth today to a robust boy weighing 8 pounds 11 ounces, and Iran's shah finally got an heir after three marriages. "The baby looks like the shah," said Dr. Jahanshah Saleh, Iran's minister of health and an American-trained gynecologist, who delivered the baby.

Cheering crowds mobbed the shah as he drove after the birth from the Charity Hospital in one of the city's poorest quarters, that he and his wife had chosen for the birthplace of their first baby.

The announcement of the crown prince's birth and a 41-gun salute that boomed over the city set off frantic celebrations. The shah has a daughter by his first marriage, but women cannot succeed to the throne in Moslem Iran.

Dr. Saleh said the queen was still under anesthesia but "she's in fine shape."

The baby at his birth "gave a loud cry and he's in perfect condition," the doctor reported.

The shah raised his hands and thanked Allah, then "thanked me and I kissed his hands," Saleh said.

Saleh said the queen was in labor less than five hours. The doctor said it was an instrument birth.

Premier Sharif Emani in a communique saluted the baby as the "rightful direct crown prince of Iran."

The shah in a brief statement said: "I am very happy that Allah, God accepted my prayers and granted us a child."

Visiting Marines Leave Guantanamo Navy Base

HAVANA (AP)—A special force of 1,450 U.S. Marines sailed away from Guantanamo naval base today after a weekend visit that served a strong hint to Prime Minister Fidel Castro that help was not far off should he try to take the big American installation by force.

In apparent retaliation for the presence of the Marines, Castro Sunday called out an estimated 200,000 of his reorganized civilian militia for meetings in Havana. Speakers harped on Castro's oft-repeated theme that the United States is planning to launch an invasion of Cuba.

U.S. authorities at first said the 48-hour visit of the Marines at the base on the southeast coast was to give the highly trained force relaxation ashore. But they later added it could be considered a show of strength to discourage Castro from any attack on the base.

Castro's supporters called the visit of the Marines "provocation and aggression."

Castro appeared at one of the militia meetings and boasted Cuba's defenses are stronger than ever and "any mercenaries"—his usual term for invaders—would be liquidated if they came to Cuba.

Called out at 7 a.m., the militia-men filled in forms to give information on where they could be found at any hour of the day. It was learned during their mass turnout that they have been reorganized along more military lines and their training period lengthened.

Speakers at one of the meetings said a force of 147 men—about company strength—in each of Havana's militia districts soon would be equipped with "the most modern weapons," presumably obtained from Czechoslovakia.

Castro, in an interview with the Egyptian weekly Akhbar Elyor said Cubans are not such "idiots" as to try to take the Guantanamo base by force.

Castro was criticized by a high member of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, Msgr. Eduardo Boza Nasvidal, auxiliary bishop of Havana. He issued a pamphlet stating that Castro's social revolution contradicted Christian principles and followed the Communist line.

In the Panama Canal Zone Sunday, six officers and one crewman of the Cuban ship Oriente jumped ashore as the freighter was going through the canal and asked asylum from U.S. authorities. With the captain and the chief engineer the only officers left aboard, the ship had to delay its departure for Korea with a cargo of sugar.

Alliance Man Killed When Auto Upsets

A 20-year-old Alliance man died at 3:30 this morning when he was pinned under his car after it flipped over on a curve on Rt. 62.

Dead is Richard Lee Hutzley. He was killed when his car failed to negotiate a curve about three miles west of Alliance and overturned. Hutzley was thrown from the vehicle and pinned underneath as it rolled onto him.

The youth was born Oct. 6, 1940 in Alliance, the son of Lewis and Josephine Baker Hutzley.

He was a lifetime resident of the Alliance area and graduated in 1958 from Alliance High School. He was a member of Lexington Grange.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two sisters, JoAnn and Sonja; and a brother, Walter, all at home; and his grandparents, Mrs. Stella Gossman and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Baier, all of Alliance.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Alliance Baptist Temple. The Rev. Lawrence Oney will officiate. Interment is to be in Alliance City Cemetery.

Calling hours will be observed Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at Cassaday and Turkle Funeral Home, Alliance.

Plane Crash That Killed 22 Under Probe

Craft Carrying Grid Team Falls After Takeoff at Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Survivors of a flaming airliner crash that killed 22 persons Saturday night told of sputtering engines and a wobbly takeoff.

Accounts of the crash and the flame-scarred wreckage of the chartered C46 aircraft were being examined today by federal, state and local investigators, seeking the cause of the disaster.

The twin-engine plane, attempting to take off in a heavy fog, carried 48 persons. Most were members of the California Polytechnic College football team returning to the school.

Engines Started Sputtering

"We barely got off when the engines started sputtering. Then the left engine gave out—thump!" said James Fahey, 24, a halfback from Gilroy, Calif. He suffered minor injuries.

The plane bounced alongside the runway, broke in half and the front section burst into flames. The dead were riding up front.

Killed were the pilot, co-pilot, and 16 members of the football team. Also dead were the team manager, a San Luis Obispo insurance man and team booster and the co-pilot's mother and sister-in-law. The women were traveling to Oakland, Calif., to meet the co-pilot's wife of only a few days.

It was the first time an entire athletic team was involved in a fatal plane accident in the United States.

Schedule Memorial Service

At San Luis Obispo, where California Poly is located, residents were stunned. The student body of 470 scheduled a memorial service today.

Before the takeoff, one survivor said, the plane sat on the runway for about 45 minutes. Although vision was completely obscured straight ahead, apparently the fog did not extend far above the ground.

When the Arctic Pacific Airlines plane started down the runway it began to "fishtail," said F. Sheldon Harden, an assistant coach who received only minor scratches.

"Just as we left the ground, the tail seemed to drop and the plane fell off to the left," he added.

At the Toledo control tower, official said the decision to take off usually is left to the discretion of the pilot.

Mechanics who serviced the plane said there was no indication of difficulties.

CAB Conducts Probe

Among those investigating the crash is the Civil Aeronautics Board, which brought a 12-man team of experts. The Federal Aviation Agency and the Ohio Highway Patrol also are conducting inquiries.

The plane brought the California team here Thursday, then went to Youngstown, Ohio, where it picked up the Youngstown University football squad for a flight to New Haven, Conn. Then it returned here to pick up the Cal Poly team, which lost its Saturday afternoon game to Bowling Green University, 50-6. After the game, Coach Hughes said:

"The kids are tired and will get a chance to sleep on the flight home."

AUTO IS SPRAYED

Balford W. Dixon, 153 W. 4th St., reported to police Sunday that some one had sprayed paint remover or paint thinner on his car. The incident occurred about 3 p.m. Sunday while his car was parked at the rear of Fisher's News.

William Feather Firm Buys Layden-Hammell

The Layden-Hammell Co., 650 E. 2nd St., has been purchased by the William Feather Co., largest commercial printing firm in the Cleveland area, it was announced today by A. R. Bricker, president of the Salem Area Industrial Development Corp.

William Feather, Jr., president, reported that the purchase price of the Salem firm, having an annual sales volume of $250,000, was approximately $200,000.

Layden-Hammell was founded in 1946 by Paul E. Layden of Salem, and is one of the largest and best known lithographing companies in northwestern Ohio. Layden is retiring from the company to devote his full time to research in the graphic arts. Layden-Hammell will be managed by William E. Enyart, for the past five years a member of the Feather organization.

Jordan Dies From Wounds; Killed Wife

William Taft Jordan, Warren restaurant owner and employee at the Eljer plant here, died Sunday in Trumbull Memorial Hospital from a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head.

Jordan at midnight Friday fatally wounded his wife, Patricia, 42, and wounded a daughter, Judy, 8, in a shooting spree at the family home behind the restaurant.

The 50-year-old Jordan had recently spent two weeks in Salem Clinic for observation.

Trumbull County Coroner Dr. Harry Elston Jr. ruled Jordan's death as a suicide. He turned the gun on himself after shooting his

E. Liverpool Woman Injured In Crash

An East Liverpool woman suffered multiple injuries Sunday evening when the auto she was driving went off St. Clair Ave. extension and struck a utility pole.

Admitted to East Liverpool City Hospital was Mrs. Thelma L. Saltzman, 59, of RD 2 Calcutta Rd. She suffered a fractured jaw, fractured right wrist, lacerations of the chin and a concussion.

Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Saltzman was on St. Clair Ave. ext., about a mile north of East Liverpool, when she lost control on a curve and went off the road. The auto struck a utility pole, breaking it in two.

The mishap occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Pledges Sought As Campaign Lacks $17,519

Final Week Brings Appeal For Gifts To Reach Quota

"Pledge now...pay later" was the theme today as Salem's United Appeals drive entered its final week.

Campaign officials held high hopes that the $84,960 goal will be achieved.

A total of $67,441 was on hand today as team captains and their co-workers were challenged to meet their individual quotas before Saturday.

"The amount on hand is 80 per cent of our goal," General Chairman Ralph Martin said, "and I feel confident that we can raise the balance needed this week."

Today's report reflected a gain of $3,189 over the last tabulation of team reports but still $17,519 shy of the quota.

Phone Campaign Planned

Members of the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce will telephone every home in Salem this week in a final effort to put the campaign over the top. Mr. Martin explained that the Jaycees will attempt to get a pledge from every citizen, stressing the fact that the United Fund donation need not be in cash and that payments on the pledge can be made Feb. 1, May 1 and Aug. 1.

Persons not wanting to be bothered with a phone call are urged to telephone United Appeals headquarters (ED 7-3473) and report their donation.

"Salem achieved success last year in its community fund campaign and we can do the same this year, I am sure," Mr. Martin declared.

He appealed to each person to do his or her fair share.

"There is no secret formula for giving but there is a 'fair share' formula that serves as a guide in most communities. He said the 'fair share' had been adopted by many communities. The table is as follows:

Joint Chest, Red Cross Effort

Actually the amount on hand today in cash and pledges is the largest ever reported for a local Community Chest campaign but it is larger this year because the United Appeals drive is combined with the Red Cross drive which normally is conducted separately, Chairman Martin explained.

There will be no separate campaign for the Red Cross. "Persons giving now give to both at one time," he emphasized.

Of the $84,960 over-all goal, $63,720 will be distributed to 12 community chest agencies and $21,240 to the Red Cross.

Allocations to the Chest agencies will be as follows:

Boy Scouts $7,500 ($6,000); Catholic Charities Bureau $4,000 ($3,325); Central Clinic and Hospital $3,000 ($4,000); Girl Scouts $6,000 ($4,250); Home for Aged Women $1,650 ($1,650); Memorial Building $13,750 ($13,750); Quaker City Band $900 ($900); Salem City Hospital $6,000 ($8,000); Hannah E.

Halloween Parade Not For Politicians

Mayor Dean Cranmer said this morning that representatives of any political group who attempt to participate in tonight's annual Halloween Parade will be arrested.

The Mayor said rumors today have been that some political groups will attempt to display campaign material during the parade. He said the parade tonight at 6 is strictly for the children adding that the "politicians have 364 days a year for political work."

Mayor Cranmer said Police Chief Martin Lutsch has been given the power to arrest persons displaying political materials.

In line with Halloween, the Mayor also commended parents for having their children comply with the "no trick-or-treat" rule Sunday. He said there had been little activity in the city Sunday night.

Recreation Room Is Perfect Solution to Party Problems

A recreation room that's "game for anything" is the perfect solution to many family party problems.

With the swing to informal entertaining at home, many hosts are finding the traditional living room inconvenient and inadequate to cope with the increased activity, especially when there are youngsters in the family. The various age groups need more space to relax and enjoy their own particular leisure pursuits. A recreation room provides the answer, for more than any other area in the house it offers the ready versatility to accommodate anything from an afternoon tea to a teenage party.

PROVISION FOR A FAMILY room is customarily made when planning a new home, but Otto F. Wenzler, architectural consultant to Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, points out that space can generally be found in older homes in the basement, spare bedrooms or a section of an attached garage.

"By converting a room which is already part of the house, homeowners save money on construction costs," Mr. Wenzler said. "The majority of these rooms already have heating and electrical service, as well as insulated walls, and require only minor alterations, painting and furnishing."

THE DESIGN OF FAMILY rooms varies according to the individual, type of home, and space available, Mr. Wenzler related, but large or small much of its success depends on how well it is planned.

For convenience, the recreation room should have ample built-in storage facilities for games, extra folding tables and chairs. This helps conserve floor space and saves moving articles from one room to another. A small work counter or "snack nook" comes in handy for preparing refreshments, especially if the recreation area is not located within easy access of the kitchen. It's also a good idea to put the television set in a recessed wall shelf where it can be viewed from nearly every part of the room.

PICTURE WINDOWS and walls of sliding glass doors heighten the feeling of spaciousness and increase natural daylight in ground-level family rooms. With a wood-burning fireplace and barbecue spit, the close integration of the interior and adjoining patio or garden creates the atmosphere of a summer cookout during the indoor months. The large glass areas are easy to keep clean, and glazed with Thermopane insulating glass they trap heat in, helping keep the room more comfortable.

Remembering the rugged use made of a room which is shared by everyone in the family, Mr. Wenzler advises using materials and furnishings which are durable and easily cleaned.

MARK - RESISTANT floors and wood or washable masonry walls are advisable. When selecting furnishings, shy clear of styles which are too fancy or frail. They may look well, but fail to stand up under

Relating Jobs Saves Money In Remodeling

Families planning a home-improvement project soon might well take a page from the book of the average housewife.

She has learned through experience in preparing food, marketing, and cleaning house that the cardinal rule for efficiency is: make every step count and don't cover the same ground twice.

When this rule is applied to fixing up a house, it can mean getting more for money spent. Here's how it might work in an average home:

Suppose a family plans to re-roof in a color to brighten the house and repaint in a harmonizing color. They'd like to install air conditioning and insulation, too, but feel they should wait a year or two.

What they have failed to realize is that all these improvements are closely related, and all can be done under a single, low-cost financial arrangement, such as an FHA Title I loan repayable over a five-year period.

The improvements are inter-related because a roofing contractor often installs insulation, and vice versa. If he's hired to do both jobs for a house, he may be able to offer a better price.

Air conditioning goes hand in hand with roofing and insulation, since a light-colored roof of asphalt shingles reflects heat and cuts the load of a cooling system, and thick mineral wool makes it possible to install smaller cooling equipment, cutting the price as much as half, and materially reducing cost of operation.

A further advantage — and possibly the most important of all — is that the entire family can start enjoying the added comfort and security of a better house right away.

Aging Roof Invites Woe Into House

Here's a tip for owners of homes ten years old or older: a house is only as sound as its roof.

A house may have solid foundations and sturdy walls and floors, but if the roof has begun to wear out or look shabby, beware!

Rain, or melting snow and ice seeping through a leaky roof can seriously damage walls, floors and ceilings. Clothing and furniture may mildew or be badly water-damaged.

A leaky roof also may lead to a serious fire. Leaking water can seep into electrical wiring, causing dangerous short circuits.

A new roof on an old house adds beauty as well as many years of protection from weather. Asphalt shingles are an especially good reason:

1. They can be applied directly over most old roofing materials, with resulting savings in time and money. The mess of removing old roofing is avoided, and the house and contents are protected in case bad weather strikes while the job's being done.

2. Asphalt shingles are available in many colors, from white to black, with many pastels, decor tones, and blended colors in between. White and pastel asphalt shingles are popular with modern architecture. Deep-toned asphalt shingles go well with traditional architecture and help make a tall house look lower and longer.

3. Asphalt shingles provide a roof that is free of harsh glare. Millions of rock granules embedded in the surface of the asphalt diffuse sunlight, giving the roof a rich, soft texture that resists weather like granite.

4. Asphalt shingles are low in applied cost. Any qualified roofer can apply them quickly and efficiently without waste or trouble.

5. Many years of actual use, plus laboratory research, have proved that asphalt shingles are

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I made some outdoor furniture two years ago. It now is starting to come apart at the glue joints. I used water-resistant glue. Why are the joints separating?

ANSWER: Water-resistant glue is satisfactory for nearly all projects, even where there is considerable humidity, but it is not perfect for outdoor use. You should have used waterproof glue. This will withstand outdoor conditions of all kinds, including rainy weather, whereas joints bonded with water-resistant glue would not hold up under such conditions. You'll have to scrape off as much of the old glue as possible and reglue the joints with the waterproof variety.

QUESTION: A long time ago I read something about an elbow-grease finish. I know linseed oil was used in the mixture but that's all I can remember. I would like to try it out on an unfinished cabinet I bought, because whoever wrote the article said it was difficult to make a mistake in its application. I haven't had too much luck with other kinds of finishes and would like to try this one. Can you help me?

ANSWER: An elbow-grease finish is one which improves in appearance with constant rubbing. The usual mixture is boiled linseed oil and turpentine. Wood finishers have varying opinions on the proportions of such a mixture, but I have found that 2 parts of linseed oil to one part of turpentine produces an excellent result. The mixture is applied with either a cloth or a clean paint brush. Be certain that all parts of the wood are covered. As soon as the mixture has been applied, go over the wood with a dry cloth, removing all excess oil. Do not rub, just run the cloth over the wood so that the excess oil is picked up. After about half an hour, take another clean cloth and start rubbing. Here is where the elbow grease comes in — you cannot rub too hard or too long. Rub for 30 minutes or an hour or 4 hours, then put down the cloth, forget about it a while and go back to it later. In about a week, give the finish still another dry-cloth rubdown. And the week after that, do the same thing. Anytime you feel like using up a little elbow grease, go to it. What you are actually doing is hastening — in a comparatively short time — the development of a satin finish that wood ordinarily gets only after many years of tender care. Once the wood has attained a rich, mellow appearance, it can be kept that way by going over it every year with a cloth dampened with the linseed oil-turpentine mixture. Each time, it is important that the excess oil be removed quickly.

Vote FOR the Park Levy

Salem has a fine parks system but it can be made better if voters renew the half-mill operating levy at the Nov. 8 general election.

First introduced in 1957, the levy has made possible a number of improvements at the city's three parks—Centennial, Memorial and Kelley.

Renewal of the levy will result in further expansion of Memorial Park at the north edge of the city. Considerable progress has been made but city recreational officials want to make Memorial Park comparable eventually with Centennial.

This will mean new roadways, pavilions, picnic tables and grills, tennis and basketball courts, restrooms, a band shell for outdoor concerts, a new lake and lighting.

Other improvements also are planned at Centennial, which is a natural beauty spot, and also at Kelley Park, home of the city softball teams.

There are years within the memory of many Salem residents when Centennial was the only park and its facilities were limited. Citizens, however, began to take a genuine interest in parks and the result has been a steady improvement and expansion of the over-all picture.

This has been good. Children are afforded good wholesome recreational activities right at home and families, too, enjoy the picnic facilities that are available.

Keep our parks program going by voting FOR the park levy.

Where We Came In Before

We don't know if dictators get their heads together and swap trade secrets. They may patronize a circulating library containing all the information distilled from centuries of boiling political violence — from Pharaoh straight through to the latest pipe-squeak politician ruling his ballroom with an iron hand and dispensing justice out of his hat.

Take Castro. . . . He has mastered the encyclopedia of dictatorship from Assassination to Rabble-Rousing, everything about the fellow looks like one of those old movies on late TV—the kind that showed the flowering of the Axis dictators. Hitler, for instance. We've seen it before.

HITLER was everlastingly bellowing about a threat of attack, to justify his seizure of more and more authority. It never mattered that the threat of attack was spurious, because the bellowing always was for home consumption—and Hitler, like all dictators, knew all communication.

He could count on not only the absence of information from outside Germany but on the ignorance of the German people, who believed at that time only what they wanted to believe and rejected everything else. This is the way the dictators do it. Mussolini did it that way, as did Tojo. Stalin did it that way and Trujillo and Franco and all the others. If Cuba at his mercy, not only because he can keep them in ignorance but because, being ignorant for the most part, they are incapable of asking questions.

They want to believe what he tells them. And he, in turn, will tell them they need more and more protection until one day they will realize, even in their ignorance, that Castro is protecting them with his hands around their throats. Even then, many of them will continue to believe in Castro because they must believe in something, having no resources within themselves.

POLITICS is pretty much the same the world over. At one extreme is dictatorship and at the other extreme is anarchy, currently on display in the Congo. U.S. politics which we are assured is the best system there is.

But even in the United States, it's still a matter of people wanting to believe what someone tells them, instead of finding out for themselves.

And even in the United States, a skeptic must wonder in 1960 what the candidates would do if they did not have the threat of "invasion" by the Soviet Union to talk about. They are getting as much mileage out of it as Castro is getting out of his talking point that the United States is getting ready to take over Cuba.

In between is everything else, including that possibility so far has been mentioned here only by John F. Kennedy, who had to find a talking point to use against Richard M. Nixon, his rival presidential candidate.

Nixon has been saying, on the other hand, that the United States has no intention of taking over Cuba and, besides, is restrained from so doing by a portfolio of treaties that it intends to honor. If any proof had been needed that candidate Kennedy will say anything he thinks might get him a vote, this was it.

Three-Sheeting the World

It is fitting and proper that in the last fortnight of a national election we should all have the feeling that everything stationary and much of that which moves bears election advertising.

There is little propriety about the location of this material. It is displayed on people and trees with impartiality. Every vacant lot is an open invitation for a cluster of signs to set up housekeeping. Auto bumpers, windows, front yards, front windows, bicycles, utility poles, sidewalks and even the sky, itself, must bear the brunt of the electioneering process at the lowest level of political enterprise.

It is built on the psychology of command. "Vote for Jones," it orders curtly, and that's the size of it.

THE IDEA is simplicity, itself. The voter will vote for someone, and in the moment of truth in the voting booth he may be likely to vote for the candidate whose name has been hammered home oftenest.

Higher up, of course, there are issues. But to the very extent that the issues are higher up, the candidates lower down are without benefit of issues. All they have recourse to is repetition of their name, with picture if they think they are photogenic, and perhaps with a spatter of cryptic information — Veteran, Churchgoer, Experienced, Reliable, Dependable, Honest.

One day perhaps not far in the future, if the United Nations continues to go and grow, electioneering will become international. If Khrushchev doesn't think of it, someone else will think of it — vote Red China into U.N. membership and make the secretary-general run in an international election, with 850 million Chinese and a quarter of a billion Russians, plus a few hundred million satellites stuffing ballot boxes.

THE WORLD will really be three-sheeted, the way it seemed to be three-sheeted when it was time for the circus to come to town. The circus sheets were works of art.

Modern political advertising is stark and drab by comparison, even when it's flossied up with luminous paint. "Vote for Jones," it says. But Jones never appears in crimson tights on the back of a broad white horse, with a bespangled lady putting the horse through its paces. The decision then would depend on something subtler than repetition. We'd vote for the girl and the horse, with Jones as intermediary.

Political advertising would be brighter and electioneering would be better.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

U.N. just celebrated its 15th birthday. It doesn't feel a day over one hundred. Organization got a lucky break when Happy Birthday telegrams got through without a veto.

It was organized 15 years ago when human beings were thought to have had all the war they wanted. Upside-down talk hadn't been developed to a high art.

Russia, saved by the free world, was thought to be an appreciative friend. Peace got good notices and few people dreamed it would take years of conflict to preserve it. But on its 15th anniversary there was so much belligerence everywhere that use of a knife to cut birthday cake could be mistaken as a fresh outbreak of violence.

We hear a singing telegram was kept out because of a claim it wasn't on the agenda and didn't come under procedural rules.

Organization is 15 years old, but it aged greatly in the three weeks Khrushchev visited it. Ironic fact is that the U.N., dedicated to peace, has become a fight center.

U.N. was formed in the belief human beings were rational and wanted to live. That was away back before the dove of peace flew backwards and developed habits of a snapping turtle.

It was only a couple of years old when Russians showed they regarded it as scene of main event in Olympics Apple-Cart-Upsetting Games.

How it managed to survive this long is a mystery, but it is still in there struggling to see that mankind doesn't wind up under a pile of hot ashes under a sign "WAS THIS TRIP NECESSARY!"

Good luck to the organization. It will need

NEW YORK is putting a "flying squadron" into service to check on operation of buses in a manner giving riders minimum courtesy. Target will be drivers who treat customers as public enemies, slamming doors on them, failing to pull up to the curb and displaying "cold front" to the public generally.

Squadron consists of 17 men. (It will take more than 17 men to get buses to stop on signal.)

Drivers and riders are in such a state of raw nerves that two big questions confront a flying squadron: (1) In checking a driver should it give him a rebuke or a sedative; (2) In handling squawks of passengers should it give them an anaesthetic while trying to board a bus or when getting off?

On most city lines, bus passengers are taking a beating unknown to any form of transportation except chicken-trucking. They are combat soldiers in a war to travel between given points with minimum pain.

Mutual Aid at First Sight

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Walter Reuther, who has worked himself in and out of a hospital bed during this presidential campaign, nurses one thing more than his health and voice — that's the union's strike fund.

By summer, the United Auto Workers, which Reuther and Emil Mazey lead, will have well over $40 million in its industrial war chest. Next season will be a hot season for all unions — including, of course, Reuther's, whose contracts with the "Big Three" car makers expire in August.

The fund would have run close to $60 million if strikes weren't getting tougher to win. There's a general impression that Jim Carey's Electrical Workers Union was the first to go down before a large company which decided to stand pat. It's not so.

It cost the Auto Union more than $12 million worth of its strike fund in 1959. More recently the UAW paid out some $1.25 million to fight United Aircraft and another million for the campaign against J. I. Case Co. Otherwise the fund would stand much higher than the current $29 million.

THAT'S A TIDY SUM in good, not-yet devalued U.S. dollars. And it's all tied up in cash. The Auto Union membership appears in healthy condition judging from the happy fact that more than 1.1 million are working.

This means they'll be putting $1.25 a month each, or more than $13.5 million into the strike kitty between now and next summer. There are no major skirmishes with any company due before then. The UAW will be in a strong financial position.

Should the auto companies take the same stand as General Electric did on, say, dropping the cost-of-living "escalator" clause or the attitude the steel industry assumed on work rules, there will be a strike.

This prediction was made in a recent column. The contents of that column were included in briefings of President Eisenhower in the White House before he embarked and later in Detroit, I've been informed.

The President was disturbed by the thought of an auto strike which might run longer than the steel stoppage. He was disturbed both as a president and as a man who will be a private citizen in less than 90 days.

The President is a hard man when it comes to dealing with any threat to a hard American dollar.

THE STEEL DEADLOCK shook the nation's prosperity. Mr. Eisenhower is reported to fear that a long auto strike could shove that prosperity around some corner for a long time.

This is what motivated his public scolding of both sides in Detroit—a scolding which didn't leave his industrial supporters exactly ecstatic.

There is little evidence that industry and labor are ready to take President Eisenhower's advice to adopt "preventive measures for the prompt settlement of industrial disputes." The early '60s will be an era of early showdowns.

These will develop regardless of the final countdown on Nov. 8.

Most industrialists feel the time has come to take labor on after 25 years of retreat. Most union leaders believe they must push ahead to stand still against the electronic brains which run machines that run machines that run machines which displace manpower.

SO WHILE the nation has been watching adult westerns and young debaters on TV, convention after convention of thousands of union delegates have been voting for enlarged strike funds.

There is an Industrial Union Dept. fund, a strengthened machinists' aircraft-electronics workers fund, a shipbuilding workers' fund, a rubber workers' chest, etc., etc., throughout the basic industries.

The first test will develop on the auto front. That will set the pattern. That's why President Eisenhower spoke as he did.

Soviets Refuse to Pay Share of U.N. Expenses

The Soviet government is attempting to blackmail the United Nations. It has announced a refusal to pay its share of the U.N. expenses in the Congo.

When a member of a club refuses to pay dues, he is usually dropped from membership. When a member says he will pay dues only if the majority of the club bow to his wishes, the custom is to denounce any such pressure and expel him from membership.

Last Tuesday, the Soviet government formally notified the secretary general of the United Nations that it would not pay its share of a $66.62 million appropriation needed to cover the expenses of the first six months of the U.N. emergency force in the Congo.

The Soviet delegate told the General Assembly's administrative and budgetary committee that the money is being spent in the Congo in violation of Security Council directives in order to support "Western colonialists" and that Russia and the Communist bloc "does not feel it can participate in paying the costs."

THIS PROVOKES a crisis in the future of the U.N. Will it yield to blackmail and let any member decide whether or not to pay its allotted share of the expense of the organization? The U.N. Charter says in Article 17:

"1. The General Assembly shall consider and approve the budget of the organization.

"2. The expenses of the organization shall be borne by the members as apportioned by the General Assembly."

Under Article 19, the charter says:

"A member of the United Nations which is in arrears in the payment of its financial contributions to the organization shall have no vote in the General Assembly if the amount of its arrears equals or exceeds the amount of the contributions due from it for the preceding two full years.

"The General Assembly may, nevertheless, permit such a member to vote if it is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the member."

None of the Communist bloc members is bankrupt or financially incapable of paying the assessments imposed by the general assembly.

THE RECORD shows, moreover, that the Soviet Union has paid none of its share of the expense for policing the Gaza Strip, authorized by the U.N. after the Suez crisis in 1956.

Out of the 1960 bill of $20 million, this country is paying $9,697,064, but the Soviet Union now has been in default of its assessments for four years, totaling more than $10 million. Other Communist-bloc countries have followed the same course.

The Soviet government takes the position that it will decide for itself what assessments it will pay of those levied by the U.N. General Assembly upon all members.

In effect, this means that, if the Soviets don't like a particular resolution or directive, even though a majority of the members formally adopt it, there will be a refusal to pay until the assembly conforms to the wishes of the minority dissenters.

This is a form of blackmail which, if tolerated, will mean worldwide loss of respect for the United Nations organization.

Indeed, it is conceivable that failure to meet its obligations could mean the expulsion of the Soviet Union from the Security Council, too.

It often has been argued that, since the Moscow government is a "permanent" member and holds a veto in the Security Council, it can never be expelled from the United Nations. But a close look at the language of the charter disputes this view.

Thus Article 6 says:

"A member of the United Nations which has persistently violated the principles contained in the present charter may be expelled from the organization by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council."

Also, Article 27 says: "Decisions of the Security Council on procedural matters shall be made by an affirmative vote of seven members."

Certainly payment of dues and assessments is a "procedural" matter, so the Soviet government's single veto would not be sufficient to prevent expulsion. And how can any organization survive if it can't get the money for expenses from its members?

The United States pays the lion's share of the U.N. expenses. The estimated cost of all U.N. operations in 1960 is about $283.65 million of which this country will pay nearly half, or approximately $120.5 million.

Why should the United States bear such a burden when the Soviet government decides for itself what expenses it will pay and those on which it will openly wretch?

The Soviet Union this year will pay around $17.45 million for some of the regular expenses of the U.N. but declines to pay any assessment of which it doesn't approve, though there is nothing in the charter to sustain such defiance or such pressure to change policies by withholding money contributions. This is really blackmail.

Views of Our Readers

Spending At the County Level

After reading in various newspapers and personally hearing many remarks in oratorical blasts about taxes and government spending in Washington, it seems appropriate to take a look at our local financial sheet which we, as voters and taxpayers, can feel and see more readily.

This article is not to be an endorsement of any candidate nor is it intended to detract from the dutiful performance of anyone in office.

In the past several years a particular trend has been noticeable; a precedent seems to have been established in the county relative to governmental affairs. Some of the following figures and comments have been gathered from local newspapers while others are from personal experiences and observations.

On the one side of the ledger it is noted that the various departments of county government must economize by slashing 10 per cent off budget requirements. One department that is vital to the people has reduced to 75 and 80 per cent due to lack of funds.

On the expenditure sheet we find that because of increased population, the office holders are in line for a substantial raise in salary. Several new cars have been bought which apparently are for personal use of individual employees. Appropriations ranging in sums from $10 to $700 have been made for conferees to be in attendance in various cities throughout the United States, most popular of which seem to be in Florida.

In an implacable struggle for existence, but having profound trust in democracy, I believe that if democracy is to work efficiently and representative government is to be had "For THE people" and "By THE people," not just "for people" and "by people" — it must have its foundation here at home.

Matter of Fact

Northwest Coast Indians lived in a "blanket economy." The value of an article was measured by the number of blankets it was worth. For large currency, the Indians used huge copper plaques. Each plaque had a special name and each time it was traded it rose in value. No one would accept less than he paid. One such plaque was called "Making the House Empty of Blankets," for its worth rose to over 5,000 blankets.

Alexander the Great, Kubla Khan, Benjamin Franklin, and Martin Luther had one thing in common — they had gout. Gout is an acute inflammation of the joints. The great toe is often affected, which makes walking torturous. As one famous sufferer put it, "When I have gout, I feel as if I am walking on my eyeballs." Although gout is not a common disease, it has struck a long list of notables and often accompanies great intellectual vigor. No one knows why.

Speaking of New First Ladies

... We've Had Them as Young as 21, as Old as 61

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON — Anyone who feels uneasy that Jackie Kennedy might become first lady at the age of 31 would have really been shocked if he had been around during the administrations of John Tyler and Grover Cleveland.

Julia Gardiner Tyler was 24 and Frances Folsom Cleveland only 21 when their husbands served their terms in the White House in the 19th Century. Historians report both were excellent hostesses.

A further look through the history books shows even Pat Nixon, at 48, is comparatively young for a first lady. Most were in their fifties when their husbands took office. The oldest was Mrs. Zachary Taylor, who was 61.

THE YOUNGEST, Mrs. Cleveland, held open house at the Executive Mansion three times a week and was always there to meet all visitors. At these two functions, she often shook as many as 3,000 hands without appearing tired.

The Cleverlands were married in 1886 after the President had taken office. The wedding was the first held in the White House.

The bride was the daughter of Cleveland's former law partner and had known the President most of her life. When her father died, she became Cleveland's ward. He helped supervise her upbringing. They were married soon after she finished college.

The courtship of President John Tyler and 24-year-old Julia Gardiner literally started with a blast. She and her father, a prominent Long Island socialite, were among dignitaries whom the President had invited on a cruise aboard the Flagship Princeton.

As they were sailing down the Potomac River, one of the ship's guns exploded killing several guests and crew members. Julia fainted into the President's arms. Four months later they were married.

KNOWN AS THE "Rose of Long Island," the beautiful brunette had traveled extensively before her marriage and according to one historian "had left a string of broken hearts in Saratoga, London, Paris, Rome and New York."

Like Jackie Kennedy, Julia was criticized for her clothes. Tyler always bought her the latest fashions, spending so much money that he was accused of living too high for a president. Julia was Tyler's second wife. The first Mrs. Tyler died soon after he took office.

Contrary to popular opinion, Kennedy's election would not make Jackie the first newspaper woman to become First Lady. Jackie was an inquiring photographer for a Washington daily before marrying the Senator.

Florence, worked on the Ohio paper of which her husband was part owner. She has been quoted as saying, "I went to the office one day to help out and ended up staying 14 years."

During this time she was a reporter, editorial writer, advertising saleswoman and circulation manager — and boss's wife.

PAT NIXON, a former school teacher, would also have several predecessors in that occupation. They include the wives of Presidents Fillmore, Garfield, Coolidge and Franklin Roosevelt.

Whether Pat or Jackie would advise their husbands on political matters is something they are keeping strictly to themselves. If they do, though, their best example is Edith Bolling Galt Wilson, the second wife of the World War I president.

She knew so much about her husband's job that she actually took complete control when he collapsed with a critical illness in 1919. Mrs. Wilson received official letters and reviewed all state papers submitted to the president, taking only the most important to his bedside.

The muscular dystrophy benefit Halloween party held Saturday night by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary at the post home was a huge success.

About 200 attended, and all the proceeds went to the muscular dystrophy fund which is in charge of the auxiliary in this area. Mrs. Agnes Ford is chairman of the drive.

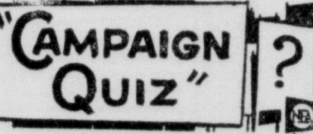

Prizes for costumes were awarded to Bill McDevitt, the post commander, the most daring; Mrs. Katherine Perott of Coraopolis, Pa., the prettiest; Mrs. Delores Baker, the funniest; Anthony Borghi, the most original; and Mr. and Mrs. John Perott, the cutest couple. Hoyt Sexton won a special prize.

Following the unmasking, a G-style supper was served, and dancing was enjoyed.

SOME 100 ADULTS AND young people enjoyed a Halloween party Saturday night at St. Jacob's Church, sponsored by the youth fellowship and held in the basement and the fellowship hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cook are the advisers of the fellowship.

Misses Carol Lovejoy, Linda Calvin and Norma Shade dressed as witches greeted those attending as they arrived and escorted them through the "chamber of horrors." Prizes were given for costumes. Winners were Miss Kathy Baker, best animal; Mrs. Herbert Weaver, best adult clown; Miss Betty Rudebeck, best politician; Gene Schnader, most unusual; and Tommy Lovejoy, the best Biblical character.

Mrs. Howard Wilhelm was, in charge of adult games. Mrs. Earl Van Fossen and Mrs. Allen Bloor directed the children's entertainment.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I work down town and the only way I can get there is by bus. Our buses run on the hour. If I take the 8 o'clock bus I get to work right on time, which is 8:45. An earlier bus would mean I'd have to get up an hour sooner.

I get on at the next to the last stop and there's never a seat. A man who gets on at the last stop always stands next to me. I think he is being fresh. When the bus makes a turn he always falls over on me.

The other morning I was pinched by "someone" and jumped a foot. I looked at him and he was gazing innocently out the window.

This man is well-dressed, good-looking and wears a wedding ring. Please tell me what to do. — TRAPPED.

Dear Trapped: Sorry, Honey, but I think you're enjoying those turns, the pinches and all the rest of it. If you weren't, you'd figure out a way to get to the middle of the bus — about 15 people away from "The Pincher."

It would be fairly simple (even on a very crowded bus) to say, "Excuse me," as if you were heading toward the back exit. And then just stand there.

Compulsive Talker

Dear Ann: Is there any way to overcome the talking habit? I am a 54-year-old woman who lives alone. I never see or speak to a soul all day. Then, when I go out for a social evening, and want to be at my best, I find myself talking constantly and I just can't control it.

I'm worse around an important person like a doctor or a lawyer—someone I want to impress.

I never gossip so that's not my problem. I just rattle on and on and hear myself say foolish things. It's almost as if my mind has no control over my tongue.

Is there anything you can suggest that might help me?—TALK TALK TALK.

Dear Talk Talk Talk: You are a compulsive talker. After being alone all day, the verbiage gushes forth because of a need to let off pent-up steam.

Try getting out during the day and talking to people and see if it doesn't help. And when you're trying to impress someone, remember NOTHING impresses like a good listener.

Kind Remembrance

Dear Ann: Some close friends had a sad happening in their family. They lost an infant son at most at birth. My husband said we should not go to the funeral or send flowers because the baby was only 2 days old.

Several of our friends asked us why we were not at the funeral and now I feel we did the wrong thing. Should we make a condolence call on the family, send them a small gift, some flowers or what?—DIDN'T GO.

Dear Didn't Go: Even though the baby was only 2 days old, he was a human being. You should have attended the funeral, since the bereaved parents were your close friends. A gift is not in order. A warm note would be appropriate and flowers are always a welcome and thoughtful gesture. A dona-

I would, if elected, support legislation to encourage industry to locate in the Salem Area, knowing full well that before we can eliminate unemployment we must first make jobs available. The present state administration has increased taxes some 250 million dollars causing industry, directly or indirectly, to locate in other states or to leave the State of Ohio.

Marie Ann Birchak Is Bride Of A. J. Conny Jr. of Alliance

The marriage of Miss Marie Ann Birchak and Anthony J. Conny Jr. took place Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in Regina Coeli Catholic Church, Alliance. Rev. John W. Cunningham officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Birchak of Alliance, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Conny Sr. of Sebring.

White mums, pompons and palms decorated the altar. Mrs. Virginia Hotchkiss presided at the organ for the nuptial melodies, and Mrs. Mary Black sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "Mother Dearest, Mother Fairest" and "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling." The bride wore a floor length gown the bride wore a floor length gown of white brocade satin, fashioned with a scoop neck, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a cathedral train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of sequins and pearls, and she carried an arrangement of purple throated white orchids with her prayer book.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Gerald Tuel of Uniontown was matron of honor, Miss Cathy Martini of Cleveland, Miss Sandy Ruskin of Parma and Miss Carole Hess of Alliance were the bridesmaids. Mrs. Tuel's gown was olive green and the bridesmaids' gowns were gold.

The street length gowns were fashioned with velvet fitted bodices and bouffant skirts of silk organza over taffeta. Their headpieces of contrasting peau de soie were of leaf design with veils, and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze mums, pompons and holly leaves.

Connie Seruch and Janice Conny, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore white organza dresses with olive cummerbunds.

Donald E. Conny served as his brother's best man. Gerald D. Tuel of Uniontown, John Harding and Dean Hutmacher, both of Sebring, ushered.

The bride's mother wore a beige brocade satin dress with toast brown accessories, and the bridegroom's mother was attired in purple crepe. Each wore a corsage containing tangerine carnations and bronze pompons.

Reception Follows

A reception was held at Christo-

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Make Child Obey or Punish Him

My morning mail contained a surprise that almost bowled me over. Here was a pamphlet prepared by the Accident Prevention Committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics. And in inch-high green letters on the cover page was the word "obedience."

In case you aren't familiar with the word, or haven't come across it in a long time, its pronounced OH-BEE-DEE-ENTS.

In fear and trembling, I turned the page to discover in what connection the word was used. Being almost completely surrounded by parents who are rearing their children "permissively," I suspected that we might be advised that accident prevention depended on adult obedience to the whims and vagaries of the young.

But no! The brave members of the committee state that obedience TO the commands of the parent BY the child is "an efficient, workable safety tool."

NOTE THE WORD "command."

Elkton

U.N. Troops Nab Belgians In Kasai Plot

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—U.N. troops have blunted an offensive by rampaging Baluba tribesmen in chaotic Kasai province after seizing four white officers leading the native warriors.

Three Belgians posing as traders and a white Rhodesian identified only as "Captain Robert" were accused by the U.N. high command of masterminding a plot to plunge Kasai into civil war in violation of a truce pact.

U.N. troops from Ghana and Liberia with armored cars checked 5,000 Baluba tribesmen who pillaged villages in a drive northward from the self-styled separatist "Mining State" of tribal chief Albert Kalonji.

An uneasy peace was restored in Kasai over the weekend but U.N. troops and planes were alerted to fly in reinforcements to meet any new flareup.

Indian Gen. I. Rikhye of the United Nations forces told a news conference he hoped the detention of the four Europeans he charged with organizing the rebellion would end the revolt. They were seized Sunday and taken to Luluabourg, capital of Kasai province.

Wem, Schnell Named Presidents Of Salem Plastics

Walter Jay Hunston, president of Salem Plastics Inc. for the past 16 months, announced today that C. Jack Wem has been promoted from vice president in charge of production to president of the company, and M. S. Schnell, president of Schnell Tool & Die Corp. and Salem Stamping and Mfg. Co., has been elected chairman of the board of directors.

Salem Plastics Inc. was formed in June of 1959 when a group of former Swedlow Inc. employees of Youngstown organized the new company and started into business. The major products are aircraft windows and plastic signs. Mr. Hunston has served as President of the Company since its inception and has guided the company through its original and formative stages.

Mr. Wem is one of the men who contacted Mr. Hunston relative to locating the company in Salem in May of 1959.

Mr. Wem, who resides at Austintown, is one of the original Swedlow officials.

"An intensive sales program should result in the last quarter of this year being the best in the short history of Salem Plastics," Mr. Hunston said.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—

"Okay," the tall, young man said, "I give up."

The mildness of the words belied the intensive, nine-month search that ended quietly here Saturday with the capture of one of the FBI's 10 most-wanted men, Joseph Corbett Jr.

Corbett, wanted on a charge of murdering a millionaire Colorado brewer, was being held here today under a close guard on a minor charge of being in possession of an unregistered firearm.

The pistol was on a bed in the hotel room where Corbett was arrested by a squad of Vancouver police and FBI men. Officers said Corbett, who turned 32 only six days ago, never had a chance to use the weapon.

The quiet, studious Corbett had eluded officers since August of 1955 when he escaped a Chino, Calif., prison where he was serving a term for second-degree murder of an Air Force sergeant.

But the hunt for Corbett was stepped up when the FBI placed him on their most-wanted list after linking him with the disappearance of Adolf Coors III last Feb. 9. Coors' remains were found Sept. 11 about 60 miles from the Golden, Colo., brewer's home in the Rocky Mountain foothills.

5 Are Hurt In Automobile Mishaps Here

Five persons suffered minor injuries in two city traffic accidents over the weekend.

Walter J. Trimmerger, 61, of RD 1, Salem, and his wife, Marian, 51, each suffered neck injuries Saturday night from a collision on W. State St. near Jennings Ave. They were hurt when their auto was rammed from the rear by an auto operated by Richard A. Lippatt, 16, of RD 1. The accident occurred about 10:50 p.m.

Lippatt was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Wilda L. Pasco and her two small children suffered injuries when a car Mrs. Pasco was driving collided head-on with one operated by James L. Parker, New Garden Rd. He was unhurt.

Police said Mrs. Pasco, 26, of 910 N. Ellsworth Ave., attempted a left turn on Newgarden St. and went into the path of the Parker auto. She sustained lacerations of the chin. Richard Pasco, 8, suffered contusions of the left knee, and Ronald Pasco, 11 months, contusions of the forehead.

Mrs. Pasco, cited for failure to yield the right of way, was fined $10 and costs this morning in Mayor's Court.

All five persons were treated at Central Clinic and released.

Only 4 Men Apply For Firemen's Test

Only four men have taken out applications for the firemen's examination to be held Thursday night. The deadline was today.

The test is to create an eligibility list for the appointment of a fireman to fill a vacancy in the department and Mayor Dean B. Cramer expressed disappointment today that more applicants did not apply.

"The firemen are well-paid, have every other day off and enjoy benefits comparable or better than those in industry," the mayor said. "Retirement on pension is possible at the end of 25 years of service."

Roundtable Scheduled By Shawnee District

The Columbiana Council Boy Scouts Shawnee District roundtable will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at New Waterford school, according to Kenneth Mugridge, executive director of the Shawnee district.

The fall roundup and the December program will be discussed. Over 50 representatives from the troops and packs in the Shawnee district are expected to attend this meeting. Kenneth McLaughlin of Pack 70 and Walt Esterly of Troop 35 will act as hosts.

Man Fined $10 Here On Two Charges

Harry H. Reed, 20, of 552 Walnut St. was fined $10 and costs on two charges Sunday by Mayor Dean Cramer.

Reed was found guilty of disorderly conduct and intoxication stemming from an incident early Sunday morning at the police station.

Mayor Cramer said Reed came to the police station about 2:50 a.m. and was advised to leave. When he failed to do so, he was arrested and charged.

Two Salem News honor stands were stolen from their downtown locations by industrious thieves. The entire sets, stands, money boxes, and chains, were taken.

One stand was pilfered from the corner of S. Broadway and E. State and the other from in front of the Century Market on E. State.

News Circulation Manager Robert Conroy said total value of the stands was $60. He said actual monetary loss, however, was not too great. Each stand contained only a small amount of papers and money. Majority of the money in the coin boxes had been collected previously, he said.

voters for their approval at a general election.

If passed, the charter serves as the basic law of the municipality, just as the Federal Constitution acts as the basic law of the United States.

MUNICIPALITIES without a charter, such as Salem, are still subject to the limitations and restrictions imposed by the Ohio General Assembly.

The legislature makes few distinctions in the laws it passes for cities large or small, rich or poor, industrial or rural.

Although municipal leaders were slow at first to take advantage of the Home Rule charters permissible under Ohio's constitution they now have begun to realize the benefits of local self-government.

Sixty-three cities and 26 villages in Ohio have already adopted Home Rule charters and charter action is pending in at least 22 other communities.

VP Candidate's Foreign Affairs Background Is Prime Asset

Lodge Gives GOP Ticket Lift It Counted On

By BRUCUE BLOSSAT

EN NROUTUE WITH LODGE — Henry Cabot Lodge's strong "foreign affairs" stamp still marks him a prime asset to Vice President Nixon's ticket despite differences between the two men on a civil rights issue.

Until the tall New Englander called for a Negro in the Cabinet, his warmly received campaigning stirred nothing but astonished pleasure in the Nixon camp.

Today Nixon and his strategists are unhappy at this turn, especially since Lodge repeated his call after the Vice President disavowed the idea. The two had just conferred on this and other matters, though close strategic coordination between them had not earlier been rated necessary.

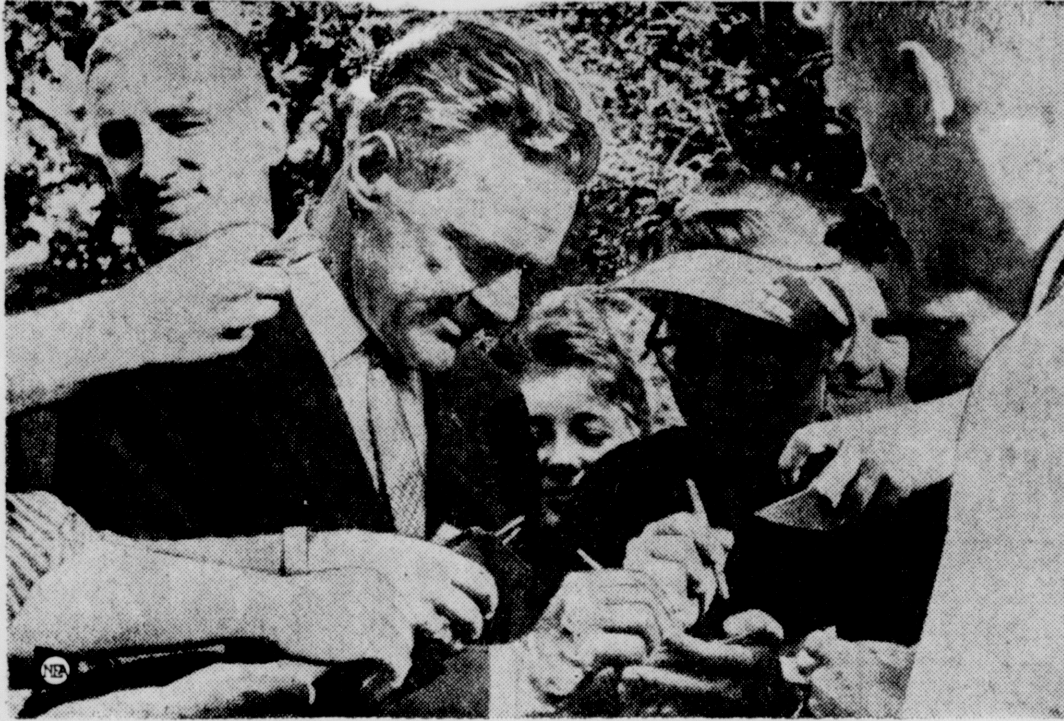

NIXON'S CONCERN is with rising southern disapproval of Lodge's suggestion. Yet most observers feel that in those southern and border states where the Republicans have a chance to break through, this development will not prove decisive.

The enduring fact about Lodge's role in the presidential battle is that he appears to be giving his ticket the lift he was put there to accomplish.

On the political platform he makes a quick sale. His mere presence fixes his identity in the voter's mind. Millions recognize him as the man who coolly out-pointed the Communists in the U. N. over the past eight years.

Yet time has shown that he offers his party even more than his established authority in foreign affairs.

His patrician, courtly manner draws friendly smiles from most who see him. He captivates many women, though some observers feel that among these he has a break-over point of 25 years. Below that age they mostly belong to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"His mere presence fixes his identity in the voter's mind."

AS A CAMPAIGNER the former U.N. ambassador is an odd mixture. His sudden, sunny smile brings wrinkles around his eyes and nose. But the face can turn frosty when he talks of an adversary. His delivery sometimes is shyly halting. Still he tries such homey touches as these:

"I've been sitting out here listening to the Mineral Springs High School band and your Dixieland group. I want to congratulate them. And I must say it's a great way to get yourself in the mood for a speech."

Then he slams out his campaign message with force and conviction: "The Communists want to take over the world. The United States will see that they don't. To do so, we must not only be strong militarily but must help other nations to emerge from poverty and distress, must practice what we preach in human rights, must put upon our country the mark of a superior civilization to draw others to the cause of freedom.

"To achieve these ends we need an experienced captain on the bridge. We have such a man in Richard Nixon, a man of tremendous energy, rich, unparalleled experience, a tough, penetrating intellect. And he is deeply imbued with our country's ideals."

ALL THIS underscores the big Nixon claim: superior experience in handling Khrushchev and world issues.

But, in addition to the question of a Negro in the cabinet, Lodge has diverged from the Vice President in another less noticed way.

From the outset the Vice President has laid heavy stress on his success in the so-called kitchen debate with Khrushchev. Lodge acknowledges the value of debate in showing Communist lies before the world. But he goes beyond:

"Debates are not all. I don't want to paint a rosy picture. The world is a dangerous place, with not just debate the Russians but must stand up and do better than they in everything that pertains to the human race."

No strong sign exists, though, that Lodge's respectful, appreciative listeners see in his definition of "standing up to the Russians" any important disparity with the Vice President.

corrected the entire matter and embellished it with false statements purporting to involve my brother in those problems which were mine alone and not his."

Accuses Pearson of Smear Try

Nixon's Brother Acknowledges Getting Loan From Hughes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's brother, Donald acknowledged he got a $205,000 loan from industrialist Howard Hughes' tool firm — a circumstance denied last week by the Republican presidential nominee's personal campaign manager.

But, in his first comment on a Drew Pearson column linking the vice president's name with a possible conflict-of-interest deal, Donald Nixon said Sunday: "I have never asked my brother to do anything for me or anyone else in the government; and if I did ask I know he would refuse."

Pearson later said Donald's statement "overlooks several important facts."

Donald issued a statement detailing his financial difficulties, including an unsuccessful effort to save his restaurant business with the $205,000 loan. He accused Pearson of trying to smear his brother.

"I am deeply grieved and concerned to think that any individual would use my business misfortune to influence the outcome of the presidential election," said Donald Nixon.

When the Pearson article appeared last week, Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager, Robert N. Finch, called it "an obvious political smear in the last two weeks of the campaign." Finch said Donald got the loan from an attorney friend.

After Donald Nixon issued his statement, Pearson said: "It should be noted that ordinarily it would not have taken him five days to make an explanation of this transaction if it was clean as a hound's tooth."

Pearson's article last week said "the family of Richard M. Nixon received a $205,000 loan Dec. 10, 1956, from the Hughes Tool Co. and that thereafter Hughes' problems with various government agencies improved. Whether the improvement was connected with the loan is not known."

"Drew Pearson has charged that four years ago my corporation and my mother were loaned a large sum of money, without sufficient security, and that this sum was never repaid," Donald Nixon's statement said.

"Those were humiliating times. The scars they left are deep. Now, in the last days of the presidential campaign, my brother's political opponents have re-

West Branch Hands Beaver Local First Defeat, 38-0

Warriors Run Wild Before 3,000 Fans

Halfbacks McDaniel, Baxter Steal Show by Scoring Five Touchdowns

By BOB JULIAN

Before approximately 3,000 homecoming fans the West Branch Warriors romped with ease over the state's 23rd ranked football aggregation, Beaver Local, 38-0, Saturday night at Reilly Stadium to pin the first defeat of the season on the Beavers.

West Branch polished its season record by winning its sixth straight after a 22-12 loss to Warren St. Mary in the second game of the year. West Branch stands at 7-1.

Beaver Local had knocked off seven straight opponents before running into rugged West Branch. The Beavers now sport a 7-1 mark.

Additional Sports On Page 12

The overpowering Warrior offense coupled with a stout defense paved the way to victory. Halfbacks Frank McDaniel and Tom Baxter were the whole show for West Branch. McDaniel ripped off 133 yards in 11 carries and three touchdowns while the workhorse of the Warrior offense, Baxter, lugged the pigskin 21 times for 144 yards and two six pointers.

FULLBACK JOE MEISSNER punched over a TD and the passing of Chuck Wilson was good for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Coach Ralph Zurbrugg's powerhouse allowed the Beaver backs only 107 yards rushing and six yards passing. West Branch's defense was alert all evening as it stopped four Beaver scoring drives by intercepting four passes. The Warrior defense recovered three Beaver fumbles and turned two into touchdowns.

Beaver received the opening kickoff and moved from its own 36 yard line to the West Branch 48 before punting to the Warriors. West Branch started from its own 33 yard stripe and in seven plays moved to the TD with McDaniel's running 14 yards to score. The extra point try failed and West Branch led 6-0 with 5:13 remaining.

One of the two Beaver highlights of the night was a 37 yard return by Francis Passage of the kickoff after the first Warrior score. The run put Beaver deep into Warrior territory. However, an interception of quarterback Mike Klembara's aerial by Wilson stopped the drive on the second play.

In the second period the Warriors moved from their own 36 to tally their second TD. Baxter climaxed the 64 yard scoring drive by racing the final five yards to paydirt. Wilson's pass for the two points failed and the Warriors were in front, 12-0 with 9:17 left until intermission.

IN THIS SECOND period both teams had scoring drives in high gear but pass interceptions stopped all efforts. The teams left the field at halftime with West Branch in command, 12-0.

West Branch received the opening kickoff of the second half and from their 32 moved 68 yards to score. In this drive Wilson passed to Baxter for 34 yards; Meissner ran for 21 yards and McDaniel scored his second TD by scooting 11 yards to score. Wilson ran the extra point and West Branch led, 20-0 with 9:50 left.

The second of three third period scores for West Branch came with 3:52 left. A 25 yard run by Baxter, a 50 yard gallop by McDaniel, a 15 yard penalty and a 10 yard scoring jaunt by Meissner added up to the six pointer.

Salem Bowlers Win National Tourney

Salem bowlers distinguished themselves in the National Central Verbund Open Bowling Tournament in Cleveland Saturday by taking first in both the men's and women's divisions.

Kate Pauline won the Central Verbund Trophy for high actual series with a score of 565 in the women's division.

There were 35 men's and 21 women's teams entered from Saxon Clubs in the following cities: Detroit, Cleveland, Canton, Alliance, Lorain, Columbus, Youngstown, Salem, New Castle, Farrell, Erie, Homestead, Pa., and Gary, Ind.

Salem had four men's and three women's teams entered and three men's and two women's teams won prizes.

Taking first place in the men's division was the Salem No. 1 team composed of Gus Falk, George Ulrich, Bill Meissner, John Vogelhuber and Joe Vogelhuber. Led by John Vogelhuber's 194-569, this team posted scores of 1023-1095-1001-3119.

In second place was Salem No. 2, composed of Tom Rill, Si Spack, Carl Menning, Curt Hippely and Bill Pauline. Their score was 3049. Curt Hippely was high with a 585.

In fifth place was Salem team No. 3, composed of Bill Schuller, Rudy Bodendorfer, Fred Theiss, Karl Mohn and John Stefane. Mohn's 512 was high for this team which wound up with a 3001 total.

Tops among the women was the Salem No. 2 team which posted a 3103 total. Kate Pauline led the way with a 565. Dorothy Vogelhuber had 502, Jennie Linder 411, Kate Spack 435, and Dorothy Weber 518.

Salem No. 1 placed fourth in the women's division, with a 2954 score. Their individual scores were Dorothy Mohn 401, Gert Hardy 553, Mary Schuller 383, Eldred Weber 356 and Jo Linder 433.

When Mickey Mantle homered in the second game of the 1960 World Series it marked the seventh straight World Series in which he has hit at least one homer.

Halfback Bob Klein Paces OSU to 21-10 Win Over MSU

By FRITZ HOWELL Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State finally turned loose a halfback, and suddenly the Buckeyes are right up there challenging the Big Ten leaders.

Bob Klein, who had carried only 10 times in five games, broke away on a trap play for 45 yards and a touchdown against Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday, and when the smoke cleared Ohio had a 21-10 win over the favored Spartans.

That put the Bucks at the 3-1 mark in the conference, back of Iowa's 4-0 and Minnesota's 3-0. But the leaders clash Saturday at Minneapolis while Ohio State plays "no-count" Indiana in a game which doesn't figure in the standings.

The following week Ohio battles Iowa, top-ranked in the country. Minnesota has Purdue and Wisconsin to dispose of after the Hawkeye fray—so if the Bucks keep on winning they could wind up with some of the spoils.

Coach Woody Hayes, in letting Klein carry seven times for 70 yards, didn't neglect his fullback-quarterback offense. Fullback Bob Ferguson picked up 112 yards in 18 tries, along with his tenth touchdown, and quarterback Tom Matte gained 52 in 16 tests. Thus the two stalwarts carried 34 of 49 rushes.

On the smaller college front the Mid-Ohio League is all done, with Ashland, Bluffton and Ohio Northern winding up in a tie at 4-1. Ashland swept Ohio Northern out of the all-alone top spot Saturday with a 28-0 conquest, the first loss for the Polar Bears. Ashland's Duane Brown passed for three touchdowns.

Ohio University, top-ranked among the nation's smaller colleges, won 24-0 over Western Michigan to creep up on Bowling Green's champions in the Mid-American. The Bee-Gee 5-6 verdrowned in a sorrow as the invade s' plane crashed near Toledo and many were killed.

Only Ohio University, Muskingum and Bowling Green remain unbeaten among the state's 35 teams.

Barons Fall To Providence In Hockey

By The Associated Press

The Springfield Indians burst loose from the three-way cluster around first place in the American Hockey League over the weekend, winning two games for nine victories in 11 starts this season.

The Indians, who beat Rochester 5-3 Sunday night and Quebec 3-1 Saturday night, hold a 4-point lead over Cleveland and Quebec, tied for second. Neither won a game over the weekend, Cleveland falling before Providence 5-2 Saturday night and Buffalo 3-2 Sunday night. Quebec lost to Providence 3-2 Sunday.

In the other weekend AHL action, Hershey won over Buffalo 4-2 Saturday.

Buffalo's Wayne Hicks had a part in all of Buffalo's scoring against Cleveland, getting the first two goals and assisting on the third. Cleveland goalie Gil Mayer was hit behind the ear with a puck in the fifth minute and trainer Les Brinkley, who allowed all three Buffalo goals, played the position the rest of the game.

Passes Click In Browns' 31-10 Victory

Bobby Mitchell Tosses 1st TD Aerial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cleveland Browns concentrated on passing Sunday in trouncing the Washington Redskins, 31-10, to move into a tie with the Philadelphia Eagles for the lead in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

The Browns scored one touchdown and set up another on passes by Milt Plum and added another six points on a pass by halfback Bobby Mitchell, his first in pro football. At one stage of the game Plum had a string of 11 completions.

"I told our fellows before the game that we were going to pass 15 straight times at the start of the game," said Coach Paul Brown in the Cleveland dressing room. "We didn't do that but I wanted to set the tempo." Brown said he wanted to concentrate on passing because he respected Washington's four men up front on the defensive line.

"They've been tough against running," he said.

Mike Nixon, the Washington coach, decided to concentrate his defensive effort on stopping Mitchell and fullback Jim Brown, paving the way for a successful aerial afternoon for Plum.

Nixon said he thought stopping Mitchell and Brown would halt the Browns.

"Those two big guys make the Browns go, so we worked all week to stop a running attack," he said. "We didn't concentrate much on passes in our defensive work."

The Browns and Eagles have 4-1 records. The New York Giants, who lost to the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, are a shade behind the leaders with three victories, one tie and one defeat. The Giants and Browns tangled for the first time this season in Cleveland Stadium next Sunday.

Cleveland packed all its scoring in the second and third quarters in downing the Redskins. Jim Brown took a pitchout from Plum and went 25 yards around his own left end for the first six points.

Just before the halftime intermission, Mitchell threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to Ray Renfro. Bobby moved to his right and as the Redskins came up for what was thought to be a run he threw to Renfro, who was alone beyond the defense.

Sandwiched between the two touchdowns was a 12-yard field goal by Bob Khayat, Washington's rookie place kicker from Mississippi.

The Browns quickly hiked their lead in the third quarter as Plum threw a 53-yard touchdown pass to Gern Nagler on the third play after Cleveland received the kickoff. Less than three minutes later Don Fleming intercepted a pass thrown by Washington quarter-back Ralph Guglielmi and returned it 25 yards to the Redskin 20.

Four plays later the Browns settled for a 22-yard field goal by Sam Baker.

Cleveland scored its final touchdown late in the third quarter after Floyd Peters recovered Ed Vereb's fumble on the Washington 34. Plum passed to Mitchell for 31 yards and on the next play Bobby swept left end for the touchdown.

After the lead moved to 31-3 Coach Brown used substitutes freely and an all-rookie line was on defense when the Redskins scored their touchdown. Don Bosseler plunged the last yard to climax a 48-yard drive.

Plum completed 14 of 19 passes for 204 yards. Jim Brown carried the ball only 12 times for a gain of 60 yards and Mitchell was given only six chances for a gain of 38 yards.

Nagler topped the Cleveland receivers with 81 yards on three catches. Renfro, back in action despite a sore knee, also caught three for 43 yards.

Johnny Hanna Leads United To 40-12 Rout of Ridgers

United's talented junior quarter-back, Johnny Hanna, passed for four touchdowns and scored one himself to lead the Eagles to a 40-12 win over Mineral Ridge before a large homecoming crowd Saturday at Hanoverton.

Hanna, a 5-9, 155-pound, all-around athlete at United hit another promising junior, Larry Marks, with a 14-yard aerial in the first quarter to open the scoring barrage.

End Wade Courtney scored his first touchdown of the season on a 30-yard heave from Hanna. Marks was on the receiving end again on a 44-yard payoff pitch and Jim Sturgeon hauled down another TD aerial which covered 41 yards.

Hanna broke loose for a 35-yard TD run in the third period. Paul DeVille wound up the scoring when he plowed over from 10 yards out in the final quarter.

Bob Koerlin picked two extra points for the other two.

Mineral Ridge scored in the second quarter when Bonanno passed nine yards to Garland. The Ridgers' other TD came in the final quarter when L. Smith smashed over from the one.

United led 15-0 after the first quarter, 22-2 at the half and 34-6 after three periods.

United evened its season record at 44 while Mineral Ridge concluded its season by losing all six contests. United has one more game to play next Saturday at Salineville.

Packers Grab Division Lead After Whipping Steelers, 19-13

Browns, Eagles Top Eastern Section; Giants Jolted 20-13 by Cardinals

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
This should be a showdown week for the Green Bay Packers, who must derail the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts to keep their title-bound express rolling toward the Western Division crown.

The Packers, picking up momentum at every stop in a determined drive to bring the circuit's smallest city its first title since 1944, relied on the high-scoring ing duo of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor for a 19-13 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Green Bay's fourth consecutive victory after an opening game loss left them atop the Western standings when the Chicago Bears bowed to the San Francisco 49ers 25-7.

The two-time champion Colts, preparing for the Packers' invasion of Baltimore this Sunday, smashed the Dallas Cowboys 45-7 with Johnny Unitas passing for four touchdowns and extending his record TD-a-game streak to 43 straight regular season contests.

The Colts have moved into second place with a 4-2 record while the Bears, who will be idle this week, are in third with a 3-2-1 mark.

The scrambled situation is similar in the Eastern Division where the Cleveland Browns thumped the Washington Redskins 31-10 on Bobby Mitchell's running and passing to wind up in a tie for first place with idle Philadelphia. Both are 4-1.

The New York Giants fell into third with a 3-1-1 slate as the St. Louis Cardinals upset the defending Eastern titlists 20-13. The Browns will meet the Giants this Sunday in a crucial test while the Eagles tackle Pittsburgh.

In the other game on Sunday's program, the Los Angeles Rams outlasted Detroit's Lions 48-35 for their first victory.

American League action was limited to two games, Dallas edged Denver 17-14, dropping the Broncos into a tie for the Western Division lead with Los Angeles, and Buffalo upset Houston's Eastern Division front-runners 25-24.

Taylor crashed over from the 1-yard line to cap a 66-yard drive that gave Green Bay the lead with 1:03 remaining after a 12-0 bulge built on Hornung's four field goals had been wiped out by the Steelers (2-3-1). Touchdown passes of 37 and 48 yards by Pittsburgh's ailing Bobby Layne were not enough to combat Taylor and Hornung, who have scored 101 of the Packers' 137 points.

Quarterback John Brodie took over for injured Y. A. Tittle with the 49ers trailing the Bears 7-6 in the second period and within a space of 47 seconds San Francisco (3-3) had a pair of TDs. J. D. Smith slammed one yard for the first score. Willie Galimore then fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Bobby Waters pounced on it. Two plays later R. C. Owens took a 32-yard pitch from Brodie for another six-pointer.

Salineville Halts Newell, W. Va.,

It was a long dry spell for the Salineville Indians but they won their second game of the season Saturday by whipping an invading Newell, W. Va., eleven 18-6. Salineville had suffered six straight setbacks since opening impressively with a 36-6 win over Jackson-Milton. Bud Leatherberry, Nick Richards and Ronnie Dunlap scored for the Indians. Dunlap and Leatherberry hit paydirt from two yards out while Richards tallied on a one-yard run. The touchdown for Dunlap was the first since he registered a pair of six pointers in the opener.

Newell covered a Salineville fumble on the winners' 11, to set up its score in the first quarter. Ron Noland hit paydirt from 10 yards out. Salineville scored in every quarter except the third.

N.Y.U. will have eight lettermen playing basketball this season. The team compiled a 22-5 record last season.

Royals Lose NBA Lead To Hawks

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Warriors, with a 3-0 mark, and the St. Louis Hawks, 3-1, lead their respective divisions in the National Basketball Association today as the loop swings into a more active program this week.

The Warriors, with a little more balanced scoring to help Wilt Chamberlain are atop the Eastern Division but must meet the vastly improved Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night in Cincinnati. The Royals (5-2) are second behind St. Louis in the Western Division.

Philadelphia whipped Boston 131-103 Saturday night while St. Louis beat the Royals 113-97. Syracuse handed Los Angeles its fifth loss in six games, 125-118, and Detroit won over New York 115-110 in other Saturday games. No games were played Sunday.

St. Louis plays the nightcap of the NBA's first doubleheader this season, meeting Detroit Wednesday night in the Motor City. New York and Los Angeles meet in the opener. The Warriors also have two dates with Detroit this week.

3 Quaker Regulars On Injured List

The Salem Quakers start reparation today for their big game with East Liverpool here Friday night with three regulars on the ailing list.

End Duane McClaskey hasn't seen any action since he injured his knee four weeks ago in the Campbell Memorial game. Two of the scrappiest players on the squad, center Fred Flory and guard Fred Harshman, are the other two linemen recovering from injuries. Harshman, a co-captain, suffered a pinched shoulder nerve during the Boardman fray. Flory has a leg injury.

Coach Blaine Morton reports it will not be known until later in the week whether these gridders will be ready to play Friday night.

Title Not at Stake

'Unknown' Italian Halts Archie Moore

ROME (AP) — Slugging Giulio Rinaldi, 25-year-old Italian light heavyweight boxing titlist, today holds a 10-round victory over world champion Archie Moore. But he's not sure he can do it at 15 rounds in a title match.

Rinaldi, a virtual unknown who won the Italian crown this year on a first-round knockout, upset ageless Archie Saturday.

"I'm going to need practice — more experience — before I take on Germany's Erich Schoepner for the European championship," Rinaldi said. "And certainly I'll need more experience, particularly in staying 15 rounds, before I meet Moore in the crack at the world title which he promised me."

Moore didn't seem concerned about his first setback since losing to Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title nearly four years ago. He looked out of condition but was wily as a fox.

Archie easily kept things under control for nine rounds, rolling with punches which seemed to worry him little. In the 10th, however, the Italian slugger landed two or three which sent Archie back to the ropes. The referee began counting even though Archie was on his feet.

Referee Marcello Tinelli insisted Archie was incapable of self defense and kept on counting, while the champion waved at him wildly to get out of the way and let things continue.

After a count of eight, the referee told the fighters to continue. But that count probably cost Moore the decision.

Salem Reserves Edge Boardman

Salem's reserve football squad remained unbeaten by chalking up an 8-6 win over the Boardman Jayvees Saturday morning at Boardman.

Fullback Freddy Kaiser smashed across the goal from the one-yard line in the first quarter for Salem's only touchdown. Quarterback Bill Berry then ran for the two extra points which proved to be the margin of victory.

Boardman tallied its lone touchdown in the fourth quarter but the Spartans failed on a two-point conversion attempt which would have tied the score.

The Quaker Jayvees will entertain the Columbiana Clipper reserves Saturday morning at Reilly Stadium. Salem has three wins and a tie in four games this season.

East Liverpool Loses To Steubenville Team

East Liverpool, Salem's opponent for next Friday night, suffered its third setback in eight games Saturday at Steubenville when it was snowed under by Central Catholic, 34-14.

Steubenville jumped off to a 20-0 lead before the Potters' all-state quarterback candidate, Ken Cunningham, passed for a touchdown. Central Catholic has won five games and lost two this season.

City Cage Leagues May Use Draft System for Players

There is a possibility that City League basketball teams here this year will be formed through use of a draft system rather than the plan used in the past where players were permitted to sign with any team.

C. F. "Rusty" Tomlinson, director of parks and recreation, reports that a meeting of players and team representatives will be held at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 7, at the Memorial Building to discuss the possibility of adopting such a system.

Tomlinson says if enough players are interested in making the change, the draft system will be put into effect this season. He says the main purpose of the new system would be to bring about more balanced leagues.

Representatives from two prospective Class AA teams and five A squads attended an organizational meeting at the Memorial Building on Friday. Tomlinson says there will be no limit to the number of teams which can enter the leagues.

Entry fee for Class AA is $75 and for Class A teams, $50.

McDonald scored in every quarter.

North Lima is 5-3 on the season and 3-1 in league play. McDonald has a 2-1 league record and has won three and lost five in overall competition.

Warren St. Mary's Takes Turnpike Title

Warren St. Mary's, the only team to defeat West Branch this year, wrapped up the Turnpike Conference crown Saturday by trouncing Jackson-Milton, 42-6.

Frank Chicco scored three touchdowns for the winners and Andy Marchach added one on a 90-yard run. Jackson-Milton's place-kick specialist, tackle Frank Woloshak, returned a kickoff 92 yards for the Blue Jay's TD in the first period.

Greenford Blanked By Lowellville, 34-0

The Greenford Bobcats suffered their seventh defeat in eight outings Saturday when they were blanked 34-0 by undefeated Lowellville who won its seventh game in a row. The fray was played at Lowellville.

Lowellville has assured itself of no worse than a tie for the Inter-County League title. If the Rockets can beat North Lima next Saturday, the loop title will be theirs.

Frank Notareschi, 160-pound fullback, scored three touchdowns on runs of 20, 80 and five yards against Greenford. Chuck Schiavello scored from 20 yards out and Mike Kamensky plunged two yards for Lowellville's other touchdowns.

Notareschi and Schiavello each ran for a pair of extra points. The Rockets scored in every quarter. This was the sixth time this season that Lowellville managed to hold an opponent without a score. McDonald has been the only team to score on the Rockets. They were beaten 24-8.

Realty Views

"You may be surprised to hear from me," Jack Strecker said as he came in the office door. "I told you just a couple months ago when you were selling my neighbor's place, that I wouldn't consider selling."

"But," Jack said, "Things have changed. I've decided to relocate so my home will have to go. I'd like your advice. Do you really think my property is salable? How long will it take? Naturally, now that I have made up my mind, I'd like to sell fast."

"That often happens," I replied with a smile. "How do you go about selling a property like mine? Jack asked after we had agreed on the price and terms."

"We have a planned selling program," I said. Then I showed him some of the features: exact facts, carefully drawn ads, financing sources, prospect file, etc.

"By golly," Jack said, "I'm impressed. I never realized all the planning behind a real estate sale. I just assumed you drew up and ad and hoped that would get the job done."

Then he added, "We talk the same language — I'm sure my problem is yours. Pour it on!"

Within a short time, we sold the home for Jack.

May we put our "Selling Program" to work for YOU?

Civil War Manuscripts
Are Given to Library

COLUMBIANA — The Civil War manuscripts of General Ephraim S. Holloway of Columbiana now are catalogued in the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., for reference use by authors and scholars doing research work on the war between the states.

That report was made at the annual meeting of the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township when four trustees were elected to three-year terms.

They are Mrs. Dick Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Clara Gilmore, Leo Holloway and Miss Stella Kuegle.

Current officers were re-elected for another term, including Roy Guy, president, Holloway, vice president, and Edwin B. Dillon, treasurer.

ACTIVE MINISTERS of the community will be guests at the Kiwanis Club dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 at Heck's Restaurant.

The speaker will be Rev. William Woodall, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Leetonia, who will discuss "Carpentering in the South, Modern Style." The program has been arranged by the committee on the support of churches, headed up by William Longshore, Rev. H. J. Scheidtmann will introduce the speaker.

Dr. K. P. Murphy is chairman for "Carolina Plan" program scheduled for the Rotary Club dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 at Valley Golf Club. Several members will discuss the careers of other members of the club.

OFFICERS will be elected when the Towasi Circle of the Presbyterian Church meets Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Church House. Mrs. Eugene Crawford will have charge of the program, and Mrs. Orin Village Council has its first November meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Only routine business is on the agenda for the session, the first time in several years that the initial November meeting has not fallen on an election evening.

Mrs. Hazel Simons will be hostess to Club 12 members on Wednesday, Nov. 16. The club met recently with Mrs. John McGeehen when prizes in 500 were awarded Mrs. Donald Gleckler, Mrs. Richard Lodge, Mrs. Dorel Carder and Mrs. Carl Wickline.

Mrs. Francis Harter has returned from a week's visit in the home of a sister in Pittsburgh. Rev. Lang, who had been ill for the past two weeks, is much improved and expects to fill the pulpit in Grace Church next Sunday. Dr. D. A. Bode of Youngstown was supply minister during Rev. Lang's absence.

Miss Judy Marshall, a student at Baldwin-Wallace Nursing school at Berea, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall.

Oxygen was administered to the younger boy. Then he was rushed to a hospital at nearby Mount Pleasant. Officials there reported he suffered severe shock and head bruises.

"It was the most shocking thing of my life," said Kenzie Ritenour Sr., father of the two boys. "I'm very proud of Kenzie. That was a pretty heroic thing for him to do."

The Ritenours are residents of Elwood, Ind. They were visiting relatives near this southwestern Pennsylvania community about 30 miles south of Pittsburgh.

Preceding the lecture hour, there will be a closed business session for Perry Grange members, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Subordinate and juvenile members are to bring cupcakes for the refreshment period.

Firemen were called out on two alarms Saturday.

At 4:20 p.m. they were summoned to 1290 E. State St. where a car owned by John Mudger of RD 5, Salem was on fire. Chief Wright said the blaze was caused by gasoline from the carburetor. No estimate was made on the damage.

At 5:43 firemen were called to the residence at 909 N. Lincoln Ave. where a soot-clogged chimney caused smoke to fill the house.

Six In Ferguson Family On State Payroll, Draw $50,484 Annual Pay

By ED HEINKE
Columbus Scripps-Howard Writer

State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson and five members of his family are on the state payroll at salaries totaling $50,484 a year.

The records also show that a seventh member of the Ferguson family, James D. Ferguson is on a leave of absence from his $5520-a-year job in the State Welfare Department to run for state auditor.

IN ADDITION, two members of the family have been drawing overtime pay in the treasurer's office.

The roster of the Fergusons on the state payroll, their jobs and salaries:

Treasurer Ferguson, $15,000.

Thomas Ferguson, his father's administrative aide, $14,400.

LEO FERGUSON, Joe's brother, treasurer's office, $7200.

Mrs. Joan Gotherman, Joe's daughter, treasurer's office, (part-time), $3960.

Elizabeth Ferguson, Joe's sister, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, $3024.

Joseph T. Ferguson, Joe's son, highway department, $6900.

THE RECORDS disclosed that Administrative Aide Tom, considered a likely prospect to run for state treasurer two years from now if his father retires from the active political field, has drawn the $271.83 in overtime pay so far this year and in the last two weeks of 1959.

Can Ohio Afford Another Ferguson

The voters probably didn't realize it when they made Joe Ferguson state treasurer, but they were practically electing an entire family.

Joe took care of that—or rather, he took care of the family.

Five of them—two sons, a brother, a daughter, and a sister—are comfortably lodged on the public payroll. The total family salary, including Joe's $15,000 a year, is a neat $50,000.

If the taxpayers can acquire so many Fergusons simply by electing one of them to public office, what do you suppose would happen if they elected two?

Remember, that's a real risk, because Joe's son James is running for state auditor.

Before anyone dashes out and votes for another Ferguson, he'd better make sure the state can afford it.

Or that it should afford it.

RHODES OVER FERGUSON

It's still three months until Election Day and there's still much campaigning to be done, but there's no reason for anyone to take more time to make up his mind how to vote in the state auditor race.

There the incumbent, James A. Rhodes, is opposed by James D. Ferguson. Rhodes not only deserves re-election wholeheartedly on his excellent record in office. He deserves it additionally because of a special condition involving Ferguson.

Under the Ohio Constitution, the auditor is the state's chief accounting officer, and its main duty to keep full and accurate accounts of all moneys, bonds, stocks, securities and the like paid in or out of the treasury, or deposited in or transferred out of the treasury.

So who is the state treasurer now? Joseph T. Ferguson Sr., the father of James D. Rhodes' opponent.

Besides the matter of principle involved here, there's the elder Ferguson's philosophy to be considered. Joe Ferguson always has liked to get as many of his immediate family on the state payroll as possible. According to the latest list we saw, two of his sons, a daughter, a sister and a brother are so employed now, at annual salaries totaling more than $35,000.

Would another Ferguson in a top state office break ground for the hiring of another batch of Ferguson relatives on the state payroll? We see no reason to doubt that this would happen.

The best way to keep it from happening is to vote against James Ferguson and for Auditor Rhodes who, as we said in the beginning, deserves re-election anyway.

Fortunately Mr. Rhodes is a capable auditor, and thoughtful citizens, Republicans and Democratic alike, will wish to retain his services.

Marion Tribune Chronicle

Mr. Rhodes has served with distinction as state auditor. He merits re-election and there should be no question in the minds of Ohio voters that it is in their best interest to return him and balk the Ferguson machine's effort to expand its political power.
